Powers One of 16 School Districts to Be Closed in State

By JOHN R. STARR
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — At least 16 Arkansas school districts will carry their desegregation plans forward this fall by closing all-Negro facilities. Some districts are fully integrating grades 1-12 for the first time. Others are ending segregated schooling in only a few grades. Still others are adding grades to single systems started last year or in the 1965-66 term.

Lepanto, Kelser, the Desha Central District in Desha County, Smackover the Parkers Chapel District in Union County and the Village District in Columbia County will eliminate or complete elimination of the dual school system.

Nashville, Marked Tree, Loxora and Conway will have single systems in grades 9-12 when classes start this fall. Humnoke (Lonoke County) and Harmony Grove (Ouachita County) will be fully integrated in grades 7-12, and Burdette will have eliminated segregated classes in grades 4-12.

The Hope School District will close its Powers (Negro) Elementary School, located about eight miles west of Hope, and reassign its students to other schools in the district.

The Arkansas City District will send both its white and Negro students in grades 9-12 to Desha Central High School under a tuition arrangement while continuing to operate a dual system in grades 1-8.

These districts will join the Morrilton, Washington, Hampton, Hempstead County, Cross County No. 7, Batesville, Plum Bayou (Jefferson County), Clarksville, Benton and Fort Smith school districts which have closed all-Negro facilities in the last two years.

Compromise Draft Bill Is Passed

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — New draft legislation requiring deferments for most college undergrads who request them and indirectly recommending that 19-year-olds be inducted first in two short steps from becoming law.

The compromise measure cleared the Senate Wednesday and shared priority in the House with a bill aimed at halting a railroad strike scheduled for next week.

House leaders hoped to pass both measures today, with the strike bill having the right of way. If the draft bill wasn't acted on today, the leaders said it would be considered next week.

After passage it would go to the President for signature. The draft proposal would go into effect for four years starting July 1 and would make several basic changes in the Selective Service Act of 1948.

It would require local draft boards to grant deferments to undergraduate college students requesting them and meeting scholastic and other school requirements.

The deferment would end when the student reached age 24, left school or completed his undergraduate work, whichever came first. The student would then go to the top of the group available for induction, ahead of the 19-year-olds.

Student deferments are discretionary with local draft boards under the present law. While the legislation does not require the induction of 19-year-olds ahead of all others, Congress has endorsed in formal reports the President's announced plan to put them at the top of the priority list.

This would be a reversal of the present system of first drafting older men in the 19 to 26 age group.

SMACKOVER: Supt. H. C. Dial said the Smackover Training School, grades 1-12, will be closed, leaving the district with a single system in all grades. Dial said about 70 per cent of the district's about 240 Negro students had elected to attend integrated schools under freedom of choice, making closing of the Negro school a matter of economics. Smackover has a total enrollment of about 1,100.

TYRONZA: The 26 Negro students in grade 9 of the Tyronza Consolidated School will be moved to Tyronza High School, leaving the district with a single system in grades 9-12, with enrollment divided about 60 per cent white, 40 per cent Negro. The district will continue its dual system in grades 1-8 for the time being, Supt. Newton Norris said.

HUMNOKE: Supt. Billy Paul Boyle said the district plans to close grades 7-9 in the all-Negro Carver School this fall after closing grades 9-12 last year. Boyle said grades 1-6 will be retained at Carver because there are new facilities there. The district has 482 students with population about equally divided between white and Negro.

BURDETTE: Supt. L. H. Autry said the district will go under a single system this year except in grades 1-3 and he expects the system to be fully unified next year. The district does not operate a high school and sends all students in grades 10-12, white and Negro, to Blytheville on a tuition basis. About 35 per cent of the district's 350 students are Negroes.

KEISER: Supt. H. E. Barton said conversion to a single system will be completed in September with closing of grade 2 in the Southside Elementary School and transfer of 22 students to Keiser schools. Grade 2 in the Negro school was not eliminated last year because there was no room for these students, he said. About 24 per cent of Keiser's 650 students are Negroes. The district integrated grades 9-12 in 1965-66 and all other grades except grade 2 last year.

LUXORA: Supt. C. D. King said grades 9-10 at the Southside School will be closed this year, leaving the district under a single system in grades 9-12 and a dual system in grades 1-8. The district has 1,050 students, about 45 per cent Negro.

HARMONY GROVE: Supt. W. P. Nash said grades 7-12 at the all-Negro Union Grove School on Highway 7 will be closed and 100 students moved to Harmony Grove. The Union Grove School will continue to operate as an all-Negro facility in grades 1-6. The Harmony Grove District has about 850 pupils with 35 per cent Negro.

CONWAY: Supt. H. L. Stanfill said the all-Negro Pine Street High School will be closed and 73 students moved to Conway High School, leaving the district with a single system in grades 9-12.

PARKERS CHAPEL: Grades 1-6 in the district's all-Negro elementary school 12 miles south of El Dorado on Highway 15 will be closed, leaving the district with a single system in grades 1-12. School Board President Ira Reynolds said. The district desegregated grades 7-12 last year. The district has about 60 Negroes among 250 pupils.

All of these districts have freedom of choice desegregation in grades where the dual system is retained.

Some superintendents said that enrollment breakdowns by race were not available. Others said that records by race are no longer kept.

"I have to go out and make a head count every time the federal government insists on figures," said one.

to ask the Senate to strike the double-billing count since he had told his colleagues that if they felt he had cheated the government of travel expenses, they should expel him.

He said he does not plan to offer any motions—"and certainly not a motion for my expulsion."

Dodd told the Senate the double-billing charge was based on what he called the lying testimony of Michael V. O'Hare, his former bookkeeper and one of four ex-employees who rifled his files and turned over copies of some 4,000 documents to columnist Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson.

Dodd accused O'Hare of acting out of vengeance after the dismissal of O'Hare's girl friend, a former secretary in the senator's office.

Then he asked: "How can you take the testimony of such a man as credible and reliable and say I'm a thief because he says so?"

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

FATHER'S BIG GIRL

Dear Helen: I'm 19 and head-of for old maidhood. I haven't ever been out alone with a boy because my widowed father won't allow it. He walks me to work and picks me up at night, even though it's only a 10 minute walk in daylight.

If a fellow shows interest, my father insists on going along. After the first date, men don't come back. Who wants to eat dinner with a watchful dragon breathing sparks everytime you look at the girl?

If he sees me talking to a man, he takes over and edges me out. He listens in on my telephone calls.

People tell me I am not bad looking and have a pretty good shape. But I'm not allowed to show it off. I love the mod styles, but if my father caught me in a skirt above the knee, he would take it out and burn it.
I've never done anything wrong for him not to trust me. Even if I wanted to, I wouldn't have the chance I can't leave him as he'd be all alone. How can I avoid being an - OLD MAID

Dear O.M.: ... By telling your father loud and clear that he'll lose you if he doesn't loosen the "reign." I'm not sure whether he is selfish, lonely, jealous, fearful or overpossessive but my I.G.A.P. (I'm Guessing Again Perception) says you'd better start looking for an apartment unless he changes his ways fast. It isn't healthy for a man to "protect" his daughter into spinsterhood so that he won't be "left all alone." - H.

Dear Helen: According to my history book, the Constitution of the United States guarantees liberty to its citizens unless it interferes with someone else's freedom.

You're probably wondering how this could effect the life of a 14-year-old ninth grader. Well, I'll tell you.
The teenagers around here don't drive, so there isn't much to do except visit each other. My friends live fairly close, but I'm petrified to walk to their houses after dark. There have been four rape cases around here in the past week!

I feel, being an American citizen, that I have the right to walk a couple of blocks safely if I want to. But with these criminals running around, I don't see how I can. Why would I ask my parents to drive me everywhere, or be forced to stay home out of fear?
Many adults say we're too young to understand, but I can understand that my life is in danger every time I step out my front door at night, and I want to know why things have to be this way?

Can anyone tell me? - INNOCENT BYSTANDER

Dear L. B.: I wish I had a consulting answer - and a solution - to your question. I haven't. And it makes me ashamed that in a country as great and strong as ours, I must say this. - H

Dear Helen: I am 11, I have two brothers, age nine and three months, and a sister age five. My Mother yells at us all the time about her hating us and being sick of being a mother. Every time she does that I cry.

Today was the worst. This morning she yelled so much I shook all day. I came home from school thinking maybe it blew over. But no. She said she was going away and wasn't coming back and we will be orphans except for my father.

I want my mother to love me and not leave or yell. What can I do? - L.J.

Dear L: Mothers usually don't act this way, honey, unless they're so tired they don't know what they're saying. I think your father should get his wife to a doctor before you're all nervous wrecks. - H.

Sisters Will Stop Hospital Operation

CLARKSVILLE, Ark. (AP) - The Sisters of St. Benedict of Fort Smith Tuesday offered city and county officials assistance in training a new hospital administration but said the order wouldn't renew its contract for continued operation of the Clarksville Hospital.

Mother James Frances, Mother Superior of the order, Sister Columba, coordinator of the hospital service, and Sister Hilda, administrator of the hospital told Johnson County Judge Whitney Johnson and Mayor Charles Callahan the order would leave all existing fixtures and equipment in the building to insure continued efficient operation of the hospital. The sisters reported that the hospital has declined in occupancy from 8,170 patients in 1963 to 3,890 in 1966. In births from 180 in 1965 to 66 in 1966 and in surgery from 25 to 26 in the same period.

The present contract expires February, 1969. The sisters indicated they would like to withdraw before the contract expires.

Ship That Claimed Attack Back Home

Golf Revolt May Involve 150 or More

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — There appears no immediate solution to the bitter fight between the Professional Golfers Association and tournament players for control of the $4.5-million tour.

Predictions in informed golf circles today were that Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus, Bill Casper and some 150 other touring pros would strike out on their own next month after the PGA National Championship Tournament, scheduled at Denver.

The question is: Can these transient pros run their own show?

The players gave the PGA until today to accede to their demands for greater control of the tour, including the privilege of setting tournaments, handling television proceeds and naming administrators for the tournament bureau.

The PGA insists it won't give in. "We can't live with that kind of arrangement," said PGA President Max Elbin of Washington, D.C., who has given golf lessons to three presidents at the Burning Tree Golf Club.

The PGA has issued an ultimatum of its own — effective also today. Under it, the 150 players who have signed a protesting petition must remove their names or be subject to possible suspension and withdrawal of playing privileges.

The players say they won't do it.

So the U. S. Open Championship, not affected by the feud because it falls under the jurisdiction of the U. S. Golf Association, will proceed as scheduled with the player revolt temporarily shelved.

The day of accounting may not come until the PGA Championship at Denver July 20-24, although Elbin and the PGA executive committee have invited the players to air their grievances at an open meeting in Cleveland next Tuesday.

The players indicated they may boycott it. "We have asked for meetings before and they won't listen to us," Doug Ford, a member of the four-man tournament committee, said.

If the players boycott the PGA Championship, as threatened, they will face suspension under an ethical provision of the PGA constitution.

Then sponsors of subsequent PGA events, with hundreds of thousands of dollars invested, will face the dilemma of playing outlaws competitors or canceling the tournaments.

"We have assurance from most sponsors they will stick with the players," Ford said.

Every prominent tournament player except Doug Sanders has signed the petition threatening a boycott and an independent association. Arnold Palmer and Julius Boros signed Tuesday. Bill Casper added his name Wednesday. Jack Nicklaus was one of the more than 130 who signed two weeks ago at Memphis.

It is a strange war of control, but one that has flared off and on since the tour was started on peanuts back in 1929 by Tommy Armour, El Espinosa and J.J. Patterson. They were the first tournament committee.

There are 5,895 members of the PGA. Of these, only 200 are tournament players. The others are the club professionals, who tend the pro shops, manure the courses and run their courses.

Occasionally they venture onto the tour. The players insist that these so-called shop keepers have too much voice in their affairs.

Kaat Doing His Talking on Mound

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
About the firing of Sam Mele, "I have nothing to say," Jim Kaat says over and over, but he's doing plenty of talking on the mound since Mele left.

The Minnesota left-hander beat Detroit 7-0 Wednesday night with a five-hitter, his second straight complete game victory since new Manager Cal Ermer took over last Friday.

The 25-game winner of last year had won only one game and lost seven under Mele and failed to complete any of his first 12 starts.

Kaat insists it's just a coincidence — and it probably is — but whatever the reason, he has the once-sluggish Twins in a third-place tie in the American League.

They share third with Baltimore and Boston after Kansas City belted the Orioles 9-2 and the Red Sox split a doubleheader with first-place Chicago, losing 8-7 before winning 6-1.

The New York Yankees split with Washington in another twinbill, winning 7-1 and losing 3-2, and California nipped Cleveland 3-2 on Bob Rodgers' two-run single in the ninth inning.

In the National League, the New York Mets blanked Cincinnati 4-0, St. Louis tripped Pittsburgh 7-4, Atlanta outslugged Philadelphia 16-7, Houston tipped San Francisco 7-4, and Los Angeles edged the Chicago Cubs 4-3.

Kaat resumed his turnaround before former Twins' pitching coach Johnny Sain, the man whose firing last fall at the request of Mele prompted a controversial letter by Kaat praising Sain and criticizing Minnesota for letting him go.

Sain, now the pitching coach at Detroit, felt Kaat "looked like the same old Kaat to me."

"He's too good a pitcher not to bounce back," Sain said.

"I've always felt like my old self," Kaat said, "but earlier this year, I couldn't get any consistency with my pitches. And the main thing is we've gotten big leads in the last two games and tonight we made five or six great plays that took away hits."

Kaat struck out six and walked none as he allowed only two Tigers to second base. Harmon Killebrew, Jerry Zimmerman and Rod Carew supplied the power, each with two-run homers. Zimmerman also singled home a run.

Chuck Dobson, also coming on strong for Kansas City, stopped the slugging Orioles on one run before a jammed finger on his pitching hand forced him out in the seventh inning. Entering the game with two straight shutouts, he allowed only five hits in six innings to raise his record to 4-2.

The White Sox won their opener on home runs by Tommie Agee, Dick Kenworthy and Walt Williams, but Wilbur Wood had to strike out George Scott with the bases loaded and two out in the ninth inning to end the game. Scott and Rico Petrocelli had homered earlier for Boston.

Scott also homered in the nightcap, along with teammate Carl Yastrzemski, and Reggie Smith's pinch hit triple drove in two more runs as Lee Stange won his first game with seven innings of five-hit pitching.

Mike Epstein doubled in two first-innings runs and singled to set up the decisive marker in the fifth, giving the Senators a split on the five-hit pitching of Phil Ortega. Steve Whitaker homered for the Yankee runs in the ninth inning.

Al Downing hurled a seven-hitter in the opener for New York and was aided by Charlie Smith's two triples which drove in two runs and led to another.

Mickey Mantle broke Lou Gehrig's Yankee record for games played when he appeared as a pinch hitter in the second game, his 2,166th.

Rodgers delivered the Angels with his hit off reliever George Culver following one-out singles by Don Mincher and Jimmie Hall and a walk off starter Sonny Siebert.

Deliberate Base on Balls Prove Fatal

Let's play baseball manager. It's early in the game, there are runners at second and third with a tough hitter at bat and a lesser threat on deck. You issue an intentional walk, right? Wrong.

Harry Walker of Pittsburgh and Philadelphia's Gene Mauch played the obvious strategy of the deliberate base on balls Wednesday night and both regretted it later.

Walker ordered Mike Shannon passed in the first inning against the Cardinals and then watched Tim McCarver wallop a grand slam home run that triggered St. Louis' 7-4 victory over the Pirates.

Atlanta's Joe Torre got the intentional treatment from Mauch in the fourth inning and then trotted home behind two other runners when Clete Boyer unloaded a grand slam that helped the Braves to a 16-7 triumph over the Phillies.

In other National League action, New York's Bob Shaw shut out first-place Cincinnati 4-0, Houston downed San Francisco 7-4, and Los Angeles ended an eight-game losing streak with a 4-3 victory over Chicago.

In the American League, Washington split a two-night doubleheader with New York, winning 3-2 after bowing 7-1, Boston divided with Chicago, losing 8-7 before winning 6-1, Minnesota shut out Detroit 7-0, Kansas City whacked Baltimore 9-2 and California beat Cleveland 3-2.

Left-hander Billy O'Dell was working for the Pirates so after Orlando Cepeda's double put runners at second and third with two out in the first, Walker ordered Shannon, a right-handed hitter, walked to pitch to lefty swinging McCarver.

The homer, on an 0-1 pitch, was McCarver's sixth this season and his third career grand slam. Cepeda drove in two more Cardinals runs later and Bob Gibson survived an 11-hit Pirate attack to go the distance for his eighth victory.

Hank Aaron's one-out double following an error put Mauch on the spot in the fourth inning of the Phillies-Braves game. He had Larry Jackson walk Torre, a much tougher hitter than Boyer, who was on deck.

The slam was the fourth in Boyer's career and his ninth home run this season. Aaron added his 17th later and Tito Francona, traded by Philadelphia to Atlanta only Sunday, socked his first against his ex-mates.

Shaw scattered six hits and Tommy Davis drove in three runs as the Mets defeated the Reds.

New York pushed across an unearned run driven in by Davis' sacrifice fly in the first against Jim Maloney and Shaw made it stand up until the eighth when consecutive doubles by Ken Boyer and Davis produced three more.

Houston jumped on Gaylord Perry for five straight hits and five runs in the first inning and then held off the Giants.

Jim Wynn's two-run triple and a two-run single by Bob Aspromonte were the key blows in the Astros' spurt. Aspromonte drove in two more runs with a sacrifice fly and a single as Don Wilson scattered eight hits and struck out 13 Giants.

Ron Perranoski, the Dodgers' fourth pitcher against the Cubs, got Lee Thomas to ground into a bases-loaded double playchoking off a Chicago rally in the ninth inning.

Athletes Warm Up for NCAA Titles

By LARRY KURTZ
PROVO, Utah (AP) — Rain sprinkled the Brigham Young University stadium as a number of top collegiate athletes warmed up for tonight's start of the NCAA championships.

The Weather Bureau said it expected a clearing trend by the start of field — event qualifying at 5 p.m. MDT. The temperature has been in the mid-50s much of the week.

Distance star Gerry Lindgren was expected to give Washington State the early lead in team competition, which again shapes up as a battle among West Coast powerhouses such as Southern California, Oregon and defending champion UCLA.

Lindgren won both the three-mile and six-mile runs last year, and is superior to all competition this year on the basis of times. The six-mile is the only final tonight. The others will be Friday and Saturday nights.

The 4,500-foot altitude, which causes many distance runners to suffer from aching lungs and heavy legs, was mentioned by some as a possible hope for Lindgren's competition.

It was little consolation, however, to Ambrose Burfoot of Wesleyan, who ran in the NCAA College Division meet at a similar altitude in Ogden, Utah, last week. Burfoot said "smart distance runners like Lindgren" would handle the altitude.

The rain, while understandably bothersome to the practicing athletes, had no harmful effect on the all-weather, rubberized asphalt track. If anything, the surface appears to suffer more from softness in hot, dry weather.

Vern Wolfe, the Southern California coach who got world record-breaking performances last week from his 440-yard relay team and pole-vaulter Bob Seagren, said he expected Oregon and UCLA to be USC's main challengers for the team title.

He also listed San Jose State, Kansas and Villanova as possibilities.

Southern California's strength rested with Seagren, its relay teams, and other standouts such as hurdler Earl McCulloch and Geoff Vanderstock, sprinter Lennox Miller, discus thrower Cary Carlsen and half-mile runner Dennis Carr. All are at or near the top of their respective events on the basis of entry performances.

Southern California also has a number of unheralded competitors who could score decisive points.

Oregon, team champion or co-champion in three of the last five NCAA meets, beat both UCLA and USC in the Pacific-8 Conference meet and has entered men in 28 sports for this meet.

Ironman Tommie Smith could bring San Jose State into contention, if he follows the entry sheet that lists him in the 100, 220, 440 and mile relay. However, it was doubtful he would actually run in all of those.

Nicklaus Appears to Be Hot

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer
SPRINGFIELD, N.J. (AP) — Billy Casper, golf's quiet man, set out in defense of his United States Open Golf Championship today, a sedate, almost obscure figure in the glamor field of the world's best shot-makers.

He's a two-time Open champion, the 1966 PGA Player of the Year, No. 2 on the all-time money-winning list and—if not unknown—probably the most underrated golfer in the world.

"It doesn't bother me in particular," Casper said. "Arnold Palmer and Jack Nicklaus get the publicity—I still get my share of the checks."

The figures back him up. The one-time fat man has career earnings of $621,152.09—second only to Palmer—and almost total anonymity.

So complete is his obscurity that one writer once reported that "an empty car drew up beside the clubhouse and Billy Casper stepped out."

While huge crowds, Arnie's Army and Jack's Pack, surround Palmer and Nicklaus at their every appearance on the course, Casper enjoys the solitude of a used-car salesman from Topeka.

"People simply don't recognize me," Billy said. "It's true. At least part of it, however, is due to an exotic diet that enabled him to go from a blubbery 230 pounds to his present 175. It created a marked change in his appearance and gave him his only bit of color."

"I had won a U.S. Open," Billy quipped. "But I had to beat buffalo stakes to get my name in the papers."

That was three years ago, when Casper discovered he had a series of allergies and was forced to go on a diet that included such items as buffalo, blueberries and bear meat.

"I got more publicity out of that than anything else, unless it's my putting," Casper said. "And that's in error, too."

Casper, 35 and a pro for 14 years, has had a minor reputation as the best putter in the game since he won his first Open championship in 1959. He used only 114 putts over 72 holes at Winged Foot County Club.

Other team players, but not present when picture was made are: Edwin Connelly, Billy Bob Butler, Jay W. Rowe and Ricky Barranco.

But Casper resented the reputation. "When I turned pro, they said I could chip and putt, but the rest of my game wasn't worth a lick. That's not true. They don't know of the long hours of practice. Actually, other phases of my game are now stronger than my putting."

He demonstrated beyond doubt that he had a complete game in his banner year of 1966. He won the Vardon Trophy for the fourth time, was the leading money winner at $121,944.92 and won four tournaments, including his dramatic comeback and playoff victory over Palmer in the Open at San Francisco.

Even that high point of his career was blunted. Casper came from seven strokes off the pace with nine holes to play, tied Palmer then beat him in the playoff.

But it's generally conceded that the '66 championship will be remembered as The Open Palmer Lost, not the Open Casper Won.

Casper was one of the late starters as the field of 150 began the first round over the 7,022-yard, par 70 Baltusrol Golf Club Course. He was paired with Bobby Nichols and Tom Jacobs at 1:18 p.m. EDT.

Minor Slams Seldom Bid

By Oswald & James Jacoby Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Preoccupation with match point scoring has made American minor suit slam bidding very ineffective. Our match point experts have found by experience that they can get reasonably good scores by making overtricks at a no-trump or a major suit game. Thus they tend to avoid the danger of getting a bad score by going down at a minor suit slam.

Boris Raymond and Jimmy Caine of New York are match point players who are willing to get to minor suit slams. They reason that the slam bonus is worth-while even at match points. Their bidding of today's hand brought them a well-deserved good score when most of the field settled for bidding three no-trump and making five.

Note that Jimmy, sitting North, did respond one heart to start. He wanted to explore all possibilities. Boris might have rebid one no-trump with his mere 13 high card points but Boris does not like to barge into no-trump with a singleton even if his partner has bid the suit.

Jimmy also avoided no-trump and jumped to three diamonds. This gave Boris the chance to make the key bid of three spades. This was a dual-purpose bid. It gave Jimmy a chance to try three no-trump if he wished and also gave a mighty good indication that Boris held only one heart.

Jimmy's bid of four clubs took the hand out of the three no-trump range. Boris temporized with four diamonds. Jimmy's four spade bid showed the king of spades and allowed Boris to jump to six diamonds with complete confidence.

The slam might have gone down with really bad breaks in trumps and clubs but it certainly was a good one and made easily against the actual distribution.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Pep Pills, Tranquilizers Pose Danger to Drivers

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D. Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

We have been called, not without some justification, a nation of pill takers.

It is also admitted that the driver is your car's most important gadget. His general driving ability and the state of his health while driving are important factors influencing his chances of avoiding an accident. How then does the taking of drugs affect his driving ability?

In an emotionally tense person a small dose of a sleep inducer or a tranquilizer may improve one's driving ability but a larger dose would impair it. This involves such a delicate balance that it is courting danger to take any of these drugs while or just prior to driving. Antihistamines given for allergies may also induce drowsiness and thus indirectly cause accidents. The same can be said of insulin if the dose is too large.

The amphetamines or pep pills temporarily increase one's general alertness. As the effect wears off, however, there may be a rebound sense of fatigue and depression. In large doses these drugs may cause dizziness, irritability and distractibility. There is, therefore, only one safe rule for those who do much driving: Keep physically fit without the use of drugs and don't drive when you are tired.

Q—What is the normal red and white blood cell count for a woman? What is the normal hemoglobin and hematocrit for a woman? What is the significance of different shapes of the red blood cells?

A—The normal red cell count for a woman is four to five million (4.5 to 5.5 million for a man). The white cell count for both sexes is 5,000 to 10,000. The hemoglobin level is 12 to 14 grams per 100 cc of blood for women (13 to 16 for men). Percentage estimations of hemoglobin based on a normal of 100 per cent are no longer used because they are not sufficiently reliable. The hematocrit for women should be 40 to 48 (for men 42 to 50). The normal red blood cell is a circular disk. These cells may vary in size and shape in some forms of anemia.

Q—Is there a special diet for a woman?

for a low red blood cell count? A—A low red blood cell count is usually an indication of anemia. There are several types of this disease. Some are benefited by foods rich in iron such as liver, oysters, peas, dried beans, red meat, whole wheat or enriched white bread and all the so-called greens.

It's Turtle

THE VOICE of the turtle sounds loud and clear, bringing the newest throb of excitement to the world of fashion. Glossy, beautifully grained turtle is the latest status bag, a portent of top fashion for fall, according to Howard Mescon, designer-head of Coblenz.

No Ruling on Merger Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—T. E. Patterson, executive secretary of the Arkansas Teachers Association, said Wednesday the National Education Association probably will not rule on an amended merger plan submitted by the Arkansas Education Association and the ATA until the NEA convention.

The convention is scheduled for July 2-7 at Minneapolis, Minn. Patterson said the amended plan includes details the NEA Executive Committee said were lacking in a previous plan. The plan calls for consolidation of the two groups by July 1, 1969.

Gibraltar to Get Choice

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LONDON (AP)—Britain will ask the people of its colony of Gibraltar in September whether they want to stay with Britain or join Spain, which insists that the Rock is Spanish territory.

Minister of State Judith Hart told the House of Commons Wednesday that both Spain and the United Nations will be invited to send observers for the election. She said facilities will be provided for the Spanish government to explain its proposals to the island's 25,000 residents.

If the people choose Spain, Britain will be ready to negotiate with Madrid, she said. If they choose Britain, constitutional changes leading to more self-government will be discussed with them.

No specific date was set for the voting. The sentiment of the people of Gibraltar is believed to be overwhelmingly in favor of remaining with Britain.

Mariner 5 on 212-Million Mile Journey

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—Locked firmly onto the light of Canopus, Mariner 5 soared on toward Venus today on its 212-million-mile journey through space.

The spinning spacecraft, launched early Wednesday from Cape Kennedy, Fla., settled into a firmer position, scientists at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said, after Mariner had found its guiding star.

The 540-pound craft by error latched onto the sunlit face of earth before its sensors picked out Canopus as ordered by its tracking station in California.

"It was still so close to earth that it looked on the earth's bright reflection," a scientist explained.

When it was blasted aloft by an Atlas-Agena D rocket, Mariner was aimed within 42,600 miles of Venus. A midcourse correction maneuver, however, is to fly the spacecraft within 2,000 miles of Venus by Oct. 19.

Two days before Mariner's blastoff, the Soviet Union fired its heavier Venus 4 probe for a four-month flight.

In Moscow, a Soviet astronomer indicated Venus 4 was to fly near Venus rather than attempt a soft landing.

Dmitry Y. Martynov, director of Moscow's Sternberg Institute of Astronomy, wrote in Pravda that the Soviet craft would use ultraviolet and infrared light to investigate the surface of Venus.

"Even without landing on Venus, much can be learned from a space station that flies by," Martynov wrote.

The Soviet Union has made no progress report on the Venus 4 flight since the launching was announced.

A spokesman at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory said, "The three-fifths of the area of solar panels on Mariner are working well."

Officer Stabbed in Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Pro-Communist Chinese stabbed a Hong Kong Chinese policeman five times with cargo hooks today when he tried to stop about 25 of them from posting signs calling for "violent attacks" against the British colony's government.

Hospital officials reported the officer in satisfactory condition.

$500,000 Loan to Henderson

WASHINGTON (AP)—A $500,000 loan to Henderson State College at Arkadelphia was approved Wednesday by the Department of Housing and Urban Affairs along with two other grants concerning Arkansas.

The loan to Henderson is to help finance construction of an addition to the school's student union.

The agency approved a $54,350 grant to the Metropolitan Area Planning Commission in Pulaski County to help finance comprehensive planning in Pulaski and Saline Counties. The department also approved a $17,180 grant to the University of Arkansas at Fayetteville for planning in the Clarksville, McRae, Walnut Ridge and Decatur areas.

Lindsey Plans Retirement

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The State Police Retirement Board is expected to receive Col. Herman Lindsey's application for retirement benefits at its meeting today.

Lindsey, director of the Arkansas State Police, has said he would retire July 1, or shortly thereafter. Lindsey is entitled to slightly more than $500 a month retirement pay. He has been with the force 30 years.

Peace Won't Be Fast in Middle East

By JAMES MARLOW AP News Analyst WASHINGTON (AP)—Israel's war on the Arabs was fast, to the point. The peace settlement won't be. The dragged-out haggling is starting. So far the United States hasn't stuck its neck out, Moscow has. It's trying to catch back.

It made a mess of its dealings with the Arabs. Before the short-lived war began a week ago, Moscow promised Egypt support. Nice word, support. What did it mean? It turned out to mean nothing.

The Soviets were playing it cute, probably hoping nothing would happen, and if it didn't they could pose as the Big Brother who had been ready to pitch in and help, the one big friend of the Arabs.

But then the Israelis swooshed through the Sinai Peninsula, wrecked the Egyptians and their air force, and knocked Jordan senseless, all in three days. The only help the Soviets gave Egypt was to ask the United Nations to call for a truce.

The Arab reaction to the United States, which had kept hands off, was bad and apparently for the old reason: If you aren't with me, you must be against me. But it was bad against the stand-by Soviets, too.

Now the Soviets are making such an obvious move to woo the Arabs again it looks unsophisticated. But diplomatically it's practical.

They're demanding in the United Nations that everything in the Mideast be restored to where it was before the fighting began, which means the Israelis should withdraw from all the land they captured and let the Arabs have it back.

If the Israelis yielded to the Soviet demand, which they give no sign of doing, then everything, including 679 Israelis killed and 2,563 wounded, would have been for nothing.

And the Arabs would be just as well off—at least in real estate—as they were before they fell on their face.

There's one standout good reason why the Israelis won't buy it—they'd have to return control of the Gulf of Aqaba to the Egyptians whose blockade of Israeli shipping in the gulf was the main cause of the war.

On the face of it Moscow's proposal makes no sense, except for whatever good impression the Kremlin thinks it will make on the Arabs. This move is transparent enough to look juvenile except for a couple of things.

At this moment both the United States and Soviet Union are trying to collect their senses after the sudden shock of the war and its sudden ending. And both are trying to play it cute until they know where they are going.

On May 23, before the war, President Johnson said this country was firmly committed to the support of political independence and territorial integrity of all the nations in the Middle East.

This might seem to mean the United States did not want to see any change in the borders or territories of the area. And this week, with the Israelis sitting on the captured land of the Arabs, Johnson said the United States remains wedded to his statement of May 23.

Did this mean he thought the Israelis should withdraw or keep what they had captured? All Johnson would say is that how the position he talked of on May 23 is carried out "depends a great deal on the nations themselves, what their views are, and what their proposals are."

What does all this mean? That's what the Soviets and Arabs, no doubt, would like to know. Right now the United States itself probably doesn't know. By rubber-band language it buys time to see how the wind blows.

But the U.N. Security Council turned down the Soviet suggestion that Israel, the winner in the war, should let the Arabs have their land back. Here again the United States didn't stick its neck out—at least very far out—but neither did most of the other members of the 15-nation Security Council.

Only six nations, including the Soviets, voted for the Soviet proposal: India, Bulgaria, Mali, Nigeria, and Ethiopia. The other nine, including the United States, Britain and France—abstained from voting, which killed the proposal.

Frustrated in this, Moscow demanded the General Assembly consider the problem. If debate starts there, it will be a doozybrook.

Some straight talk about milk that is important to mothers

No one has to tell you how important milk is to a child's diet. Or that the best milk is none too good for him.
PROBLEM: With so many brands to choose from, how do you tell which milk is freshest and provides the most nourishment?
SOLUTION: Buy the milk that far exceeds government requirements and goes even further to meet its own higher standards of quality and taste.
FACT: The Borden Company has spent more than 100 years building its reputation for milk that is always better than it has to be.
Borden's quality control starts at the dairy farm and follows the milk all the way to your home or to the store. It takes 23 separate quality tests for purity, flavor and freshness to tell us we couldn't do better! This extra care sometimes causes Borden's to cost a little more than some brands. But if we did anything less, we couldn't keep this promise:

Confirmation of Marshall Seems Sure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's appointment of Solicitor General Thurgood Marshall to the Supreme Court — the first Negro so named — appears certain to be confirmed when the Senate gets to it.
Johnson's announcement Tuesday that he is nominating Marshall, 58, to succeed retiring Associate Justice Tom C. Clark surprised neither the solicitor general's critics nor his supporters.
A senator who maintains close relations with the President said he felt certain Clark's successor would be either a Negro or a woman.
"That man is going to be first in everything he can," the senator said of the President. "I'd be willing to bet that if there is another vacancy, we'll have a woman member of the court."
And one White House aide said he suspected Johnson deeply wanted to be the first president to nominate a Negro to the court — just as he was the first to nominate a Negro to the Cabinet when he picked Robert C. Weaver for secretary of housing and urban development.

The general opinion among senators was that Johnson's selection of Marshall represented a bid for Negro support in Johnson's expected bid for reelection next year.
White House officials indicated they were uncertain about the reaction the nomination would receive in the Senate and were prepared for noisy opposition from long-time segregationists and, perhaps, from some others who may have been disturbed by the so-called black power movement.
However, they said Johnson looked upon Marshall as a symbol of Negro progress through full implementation of legal processes, as contrasted with mob violence.
Johnson, they said, had been thinking about Marshall as a potential Supreme Court justice for a long time and has been mindful that the emergence of the black power stalwarts might work against his choice.

But they said he felt he could not stand aside and lose the momentum they said he has gained through persistent espousal of the Negro cause.
In announcing the selection in the White House rose garden with the nominee at his side, Johnson said Marshall had earned and deserved a place on the high court and is the man best qualified for the job by training and experience.
He said Marshall had lost only eight of 52 cases he argued before the Supreme Court.
"I believe he has already earned his place in history," the President said.
Although Marshall predicted there may be a long delay in confirmation, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen forecast early approval. He said the appointment will ameliorate racial tensions "because it demonstrates that Negroes can reach the top of the heap."
Asked if he felt the appointment represented the Johnson civil rights program for 1967, Dirksen grinned and said he didn't see much chance for any new legislation.

The appointment of the former U.S. Circuit Court judge and chief legal officer for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People obviously did not please some Southerners who have opposed Marshall's views on civil rights questions.
But the changing times which have recorded gains in the legal rights of Negroes appeared to be reflected in the softened attitude of some Southerners to the appointment.
Sentenced For Harboring a Red
ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Helen Nahnikian, a former personal secretary of anti-monarchist leader Andreas Papandreu, was sentenced to two years in jail by an Athens military court Tuesday night for harboring wanted Communists.
Miss Nahnikian, 31, was arrested three weeks ago. Security police said they found three persons hiding in her Athens flat.

New Facts Hinted in Dodd Case

By JOHN CHADWICK
WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Thomas J. Dodd says he knows of no surprises planned in his defense against proposed Senate censure—but his self-appointed defender, Sen. Russell B. Long, hints new facts will be unveiled.

Dodd told newsmen he had made his basic presentation in denying to his colleagues Wednesday that he cheated the government on travel expenses or accepted testimonial funds under a false banner.

"It's my life that is at stake," the Connecticut Democrat said in a dramatic and at times highly emotional Senate speech. "I would rather be dead than be dishonored."

Long, D-La., has said he knows "what this is all about" and hinted that in time he will disclose new facts in the case.

But when Dodd was asked about this, he said if Long has any surprise evidence, "I am not privy to it."

Questioning of Dodd by Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., of the Senate ethics committee was put off until today's Senate session.

The bipartisan ethics panel unanimously recommended, after a 14-month investigation, that Dodd be censured for conduct that "tends to bring the Senate into dishonor and disrepute."

It found the white-haired, two-term senator converted to his personal benefit at least $116,083 in political funds and that he used his position to secure private organizations for travel expenses on seven trips.

Long has appeared to irritate other senators with his tactics, including his statements that new jobs and new industries, the "debate" shouldn't vote on the censure resolution.

But Dodd said he thinks Long is being helpful. "I'm sure that is his intention and I'm most grateful to him," he said.

Asked about his relations with Long, the assistant Democratic leader, Dodd said the two never have been particularly close. "I haven't had any close friends," Dodd said. "I have been too busy. I wish I had."

However, after his three-hour defense speech he reported fellow senators had been "friendly, courteous and some of them complimentary."

Long has said he plans to ask the Senate to discard the censure resolution in favor of a substitute motion urging the ethics committee to draw a code of conduct for future guidance of senators.

Dodd was asked if he planned to see NEW FACTS (On Page Two)

Some Remarks Never Die They Are Just Yelled Over and Over

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks that bald men get tired of hearing:

"Hi, there, cueball!"

"Have you read any good hair-raising mysteries lately, Elmer?"

"Cheer up, old man. They say that in a million years or so everybody will be bald. If you can just hold out until then, you'll have plenty of company."

"Well, hair today, gone tomorrow."

"The big thing that puzzles me is how he tells where his forehead ends and his back bone begins."

"Of course, you could grow a crewcut beard, Elmer, but that would only make you look like you had your head screwed on your neck upside down."

"He doesn't have hair for the same reason grass doesn't grow on a busy street. It can't get up through the concrete."

"Don't tell me that's Elmer K. Rugby. Why, in high school he had the longest, curliest hair in our class. All the girls envied him."

"I forget your name, old boy, but the fuzz is familiar."

"As your friend for 30 years would I lie to you, Elmer? I swear it's beginning to grow back in."

"Just trim it on the sides, sir? There doesn't seem much to do on the top."

"When he dozes in a chair on the front porch, the flies use his head for a landing strip."

"It makes him kinda look like Yul Brynner—that is, if you don't look too closely."

"According to some scientists, baldness is a sign of great virility. If that's really true, Elmer must be even more masculine than Tarzan."

"I hear he combs with a washcloth."

"It's nice to have Elmer along on our camping trips. In the morning, when we want to shave, we just wait until the sun comes up and use his head for a mirror."

"How did it start in your case? Was your great-granddad scalped by the Indians?"

"Yeah, that's him. Us kids used to sing 'On Top of Old Baldy' everytime he went by with his wife. Now he pays us each a dime a week not to do it any more."

"There have been a lot of famous bald men in history, Elmer. Lemme see now. There was Socrates and Julius Caesar and—uh—well, I guess that's all I can think of offhand."

White Youth Shot by Negroes in Auto as Race Riots Continue

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A white teenager was shot by Negroes in a passing car although racial rioting was eased generally Wednesday night in Cincinnati, Ohio. Violence hit another Ohio city after a Negro leader promised "to make white men get on their knees."

Fire bombs were used in several places, police said, and unruly crowds formed, then dispersed as cruisers and National Guard jeeps raced to the scene.

Police said 70 persons were arrested in spots as far as 11 miles apart although trouble calls came at a slower rate than the previous night and reports of injuries were fewer.

Meanwhile, vandalism, at least two arson fires and window breaking cropped up in Dayton, Ohio, where three white persons were beaten when pulled from their cars.

The violence followed a militant civil rights meeting where H. Rap Brown, who recently replaced Stokely Carmichael as head of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, asked Negroes, "How can you be non-violent in America, the most violent country in the world?"

"You better shoot that man to death; that's what he's doing to you," Brown said.

Afterwards, Willie Ricks, SNCC official, said he and Brown were in Dayton "to make the white men get on their knees."

National Guardsmen patrolling Cincinnati were under orders from their commander, Lt. Col. Francis B. Folk that "if fired upon, return fire and shoot to kill."

Damage from looting, fires and smashed store windows Tuesday night was estimated at more than $1 million.

In contrast, more than 120 young Negroes in Tampa, Fla., apparently ended the violence which had disrupted Florida's second largest city for three nights.

Striving to maintain an uneasy truce with National Guardsmen and police reinforcements held out, white-helmeted members of the "City Youth Patrol" popped up in front of bars, on troublesome corners and in restaurants to urge that Negroes "cool it. We don't need any more trouble."

The action followed official warnings that serious trouble would bring massive police retaliation.

National Guardsmen were moved to a baseball park to stand by after a fire in a two-story frame home and grocery store, but these were the only two blazes compared to 15 Tuesday night.

In what police called an isolated incident, a white youth was seriously injured when a gasoline bomb was tossed in the window of his car.

Elsewhere, Negro leaders held a summit conference in New York, Negroes marched on the Alabama capital at Montgomery and business and professional men hunted homes for Negroes in an affluent Chicago suburb.

At New York, civil rights leaders adopted a formula for concentrating their power on one city at a time—starting with Cleveland, Ohio. Afterwards, Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. refused to rule out the possibility of working with black nationalists in Cleveland.

In Chicago, business and professional men found 38 homes for five Negro families, including 23 at the desired price levels of $25,000 to $40,000.

A spokesman said some of the five families have been looking for homes for years. The heads of the families include a chemist, a hospital association official, a lawyer, a magistrate and a post office clerk.

A group of more than 150, singing, chanting Negroes marched to the steps of the Capitol at Montgomery, Ala., before police halted them at barricades.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines battled Communist troops today at two points south of Da Nang. The war's tempo rose again after a lull reflected by the fact American combat casualties last week were the lowest in nearly two months.

A Marine spokesman said a battalion of the 5th Marine Regiment fought a Communist force of undetermined size that had pounced on two or three Leatherneck platoons with heavy mortar and automatic weapons fire 25 miles south of Da Nang.

There was no announcement of casualties on either side.

Elements of the 7th Marine Regiment battled about 60 uniformed Viet Cong in Operation Arizona, 14 miles southwest of Da Nang. The Marines, saying nothing about any losses of their own, reported killing 15 of the Viet Cong.

A hard-core Communist battalion of about 500 men was cut to pieces in the Mekong River delta Wednesday by U.S. helicopter gunships and artillery and a crack South Vietnamese division.

LBj Bypassing Senate Leaders in Reassessing U.S. Mid-East Policy

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently is bypassing Senate leaders in the first stages of reassessing U.S. policy in the Middle East.

The State Department's announcement Wednesday that it was asking two panels of private citizens to consult today on the course the United States should take in the Israeli-Arab crisis found senators wondering when and if they are going to be asked for their opinions.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he hadn't been advised of any prospective policy changes and did not know the fact being taken by a special National Security Council committee Johnson named last week. McGeorge Bundy, former presidential assistant, is its working head.

Fulbright said in an interview that as soon as the Senate acts on a pending censure resolution against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., he plans to call together the Foreign Relations Committee to take a penetrating look at the Middle East situation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, frequently consulted by Johnson on Vietnam war decisions, said he expects a discussion on Middle East policy decisions at a bipartisan White House meeting before any action is taken to put them into effect.

But Dirksen said he has no idea when such a meeting will materialize.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he hasn't been told such a conference will be held and isn't being consulted at this point about possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson apparently is bypassing Senate leaders in the first stages of reassessing U.S. policy in the Middle East.

The State Department's announcement Wednesday that it was asking two panels of private citizens to consult today on the course the United States should take in the Israeli-Arab crisis found senators wondering when and if they are going to be asked for their opinions.

Chairman J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee said he hadn't been advised of any prospective policy changes and did not know the fact being taken by a special National Security Council committee Johnson named last week. McGeorge Bundy, former presidential assistant, is its working head.

Fulbright said in an interview that as soon as the Senate acts on a pending censure resolution against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn., he plans to call together the Foreign Relations Committee to take a penetrating look at the Middle East situation.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, frequently consulted by Johnson on Vietnam war decisions, said he expects a discussion on Middle East policy decisions at a bipartisan White House meeting before any action is taken to put them into effect.

But Dirksen said he has no idea when such a meeting will materialize.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he hasn't been told such a conference will be held and isn't being consulted at this point about possible

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. Marines battled Communist troops today at two points south of Da Nang. The war's tempo rose again after a lull reflected by the fact American combat casualties last week were the lowest in nearly two months.

A Marine spokesman said a battalion of the 5th Marine Regiment fought a Communist force of undetermined size that had pounced on two or three Leatherneck platoons with heavy mortar and automatic weapons fire 25 miles south of Da Nang.

There was no announcement of casualties on either side.

Elements of the 7th Marine Regiment battled about 60 uniformed Viet Cong in Operation Arizona, 14 miles southwest of Da Nang. The Marines, saying nothing about any losses of their own, reported killing 15 of the Viet Cong.

A hard-core Communist battalion of about 500 men was cut to pieces in the Mekong River delta Wednesday by U.S. helicopter gunships and artillery and a crack South Vietnamese division.

The South Vietnamese said 211 of the Communists were killed, 17 were captured and many more wounded in a blistering battle in which the Red commander was bested by the battle-tested Vietnamese 21st Division.

As the two-week lull in the ground war broke, another Red battalion of about 500 men fell on an American company in the jungles of war zone D north of Saigon.

The Widows, Orphans Remember

By JEAN HELLER
NEW YORK (AP) — "It's a strange feeling, thinking he's just at work and tonight maybe he'll be home. Then the night comes and the house is quiet. The kids are in bed. But he doesn't come home. He never comes home."
And Virginia Higgins knows he never will.
Walter Higgins, battalion chief, New York City Fire Department, died last Oct. 17 with 11 other firemen in the worst tragedy in the department's history.
In the boiling black smoke and the stench of burning chemicals, the weakened floor of a 75-year-old building collapsed into an incinerating fire, dropping the men in after it.
The black-long scar of gutted buildings at Broadway and 22nd Street has long since been healed by bulldozers and covered over with an asphalt parking lot.
But for 12 widows and 36 children, the pain cannot be pushed away or covered over.
"It's the way they died, that's what keeps you awake," said Mrs. Joseph Priore. "That was the hardest adjustment to make."
Jeanette Kaminsky, who lost her husband, Rudolph, after 15 years of marriage, has found some comfort in her two daughters, Giorianne, 12, and Rose Marie, 13, who have done their best to make the adjustment easier.

"Rose Marie isn't the type to break down, but every once in a while she goes to her room and closes the door," Mrs. Kaminsky said. "It got to Giorianne too. Her father used to have pet names for her and once, by mistake, I called her by one of those names. She said, 'Mommy, please don't call me that. That was Daddy's name for me.'"

There are four times as many widows in the United States as there are widowers, says The World Almanac. In 1966, there were 8.9 million widowed women compared to only 2 million widowed men.

California Hit by Quake

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The sprawling Los Angeles area was rocked by an earthquake late Wednesday night. No serious damage was reported.
Police said plaster fell from the ceiling of a house in north Los Angeles.
In Long Beach, south of the metropolitan center, and west of Los Angeles, residents said windows shook. The tremor was felt on the beaches.
Dr. Charles Richter, seismologist at the California Institute of Technology's seismological laboratory, said the shock was small — with a reading of about 4 on his 10-point scale.

Man Drowned at Springdale

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) — Franklin Harold Watson, 26, of Springdale, drowned Wednesday about eight miles east of here while swimming. Authorities said Watson drowned in the Ellis Ford area of Beaver Lake.
Weldon Artman and George Barnes, two friends of Watson's, said Watson was about 10 yards behind them and apparently became exhausted and yelled "I can't make it." He went under before the two could reach him.
Artman and Barnes said they were swimming toward an island where they planned some fishing. The body was recovered.

More Troops for Vietnam Is Likely

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's ninth trip to South Vietnam next week is expected to bring a further increase in U.S. forces in Vietnam.
The question of boosting U.S. forces in the war has been under study for months but no final decisions have been made, Pentagon sources said.
The U.S. commitment in Vietnam now stands at better than 462,000 men. This is close to the 470,000 which officials have indicated as the currently planned build-up level.
Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the U.S. commander in Vietnam, reportedly has submitted proposals for varying numbers of additional troops.
These variations, it is understood, are based on different levels of military campaigning in the months ahead and different time periods in which to seek certain military objectives.
Possible U.S. troop reinforcements under alternative proposals range from two to four divisions, sources said. Counting supporting elements, this could come to anywhere from 50,000 to about 100,000 more men.
Some Pentagon sources believe the most likely outcome may be an authorization for one more division force for Vietnam, or 25,000 to 30,000 men.
There has been a relative lull in recent ground fighting in Vietnam but top Pentagon authorities forecast hard fighting ahead. They also reported a

The 1928-29 graduation class of DeAnn High School held a reunion Sunday, June 11 at the home of Mrs. Carlton Samuel. After potluck supper at 7:30 the group looked at old books, albums and talked over school days.
The following officers were elected, Leo Hartsfield, president; Mrs. Caludie Mann, Secretary, Mrs. Gladys Samuel, reporter; Alvin Willis, O. F. Lloyd and Hollis Samuel, food committee. The officers are to try to get the class together in another two years.
At the graduation John Vesey, Hope attorney was speaker and E. E. Austin presented diplomas. Miss Elizabeth Reeves was principal.
Pictured are from left, up and down, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Lloyd; Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hartsfield, Elston Samuel of Garland, Texas, Mrs. M. F. continuing buildup of Communist forces.
President Johnson, who will make the final manpower determination, faces questions which could bear on the 1968 election campaign.
Should he try for a quick military decision with many more U.S. troops — and probably many more casualties?
Should he continue the slow buildup, with slight likelihood of dramatic improvement over the short range?
The U.S. buildup has slowed markedly this year. Last year, the United States funneled nearly 210,000 men into Vietnam.

policy decisions.
Included on the special citizens committee named by the State Department were former ambassadors John Kenneth Galbraith, Raymond A. Hare and Charles Yost.
State Department press officer Carl Barch said the panels would meet chiefly with Asst. Secretaries Lucius D. Battle, who runs the Middle East bureau, and Joseph J. Sisco, who handles United Nations affairs. On the agenda, said Barch, are discussions on existing problems raised by the crisis and "steps that might be taken to assure peace and the development of the area."
The House Foreign Affairs Committee moved meanwhile toward a policy statement on aid to the Middle East. The committee, studying pending foreign aid legislation, named Rep. Cornelius E. Gallagher, D-N.J., to head a subcommittee to draft policy recommendations.
Even if the White House wasn't yet asking senators for their Middle East policy recommendations, several didn't hesitate to make their views known.
Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., a vigorous defender of Israel, said he has asked for a chance to voice his views to State Department officials. He added he expects to get the chance but doesn't know when.
Javits said he thinks American policy in the Middle East must be overhauled "because it does not seem to be sufficiently relative to what has occurred in the area."

Sanitation Suit Back to Court

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A lawsuit, filed by the City of Pine Bluff in an attempt to stop a strike by the city's street, sewer and sanitation departments, was ordered back to Jefferson County Chancery Court Wednesday.
Federal Judge Oren Harris issued the order. He said federal judges can take jurisdiction in state court cases only when more than $10,000 was at stake in addition to a federal question. He said no value could be placed on the rights of the employees involved in the case.
The workers, members of Local 966 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, went on strike May 29 for higher wages. The strike involves 78 employees.
Jefferson County Sheriff Buck Oliver said Wednesday the County dump, located near Watson Chapel has been closed to all except Watson Chapel residents. Oliver also warned Pine Bluff residents to stop dumping along county roads.

we care

say Dad... ever wonder how Mom
got the money

Come Sunday morning, will you be one of the millions of fathers who are forever amazed?
Will you look at your new fishing reel or power tool or camera...
and wonder:
"How did Mom get the money?"

You'll know she didn't rob a bank...and she didn't sell the car.
Maybe, just maybe, we can give you a hint.

Is Mom an A&P shopper?
Could it be that the savings she makes each week of the year
add up to so much?
Why not ask her?
Before you do though, better take a quick look in the garage to make sure the car's still there.
